

"Just when I thought that flying couldn't get more stressful, I am faced with the possibility of sitting for hours, captive, next to someone doing business or chatting with friends throughout an airline flight. Forget reading ... forget sleeping. That booming voice projected outward will dominate my space. Please do not allow cell phone use on airplanes. Worse case is they are using Nextel and I hear both sides of the conversation."